HENRY FORD LAMBASTS COAL PROFITEERS

Automobile King Says Some Mighty
Sensible and Pertinent Things as to The Price of Coal and The Manipulation of the Coal Market. He Believes There is Juggling Somewhere

Detroit, Sept. 23.—Henry Ford, in a newspaper interview late today, advised the people of the country to "buy as little coal as possible now," declaring "coal prices are tumbling."

Mr. Ford granted the interview shortly after his return from southern Ohio where he arranged for an uninterrupted movement of coal to his Detroit industries.

"Tell the people of the whole world if you can," Mr. Ford said to his interviewer, "that if they would save money they should not buy coal in any great amount now. Tell them to buy only enough to get along with for coal prices are tumbling and they will go much lower. They will have an opportunity later on to get their winter's coal much more cheaply."

"There is enough coal above ground to run the country for a long time," Mr. Ford said. "The high prices were made because the supply was held back from the market. But the price is falling rapidly. We bought 500 cars of coal in Toledo for $5 a ton. That, of course includes the freight rate from the mines to Toledo. At Cincinnati Edsel arranged for a sixty-day supply of coal for approximately $3 a ton at the mines. And that is $2 a ton less than what the brokers paid for it. The brokers have held their coal so long that their profits have been wiped out and now they must unload at any price. Before spring comes you will see coal sell for a good deal below $3 a ton."

Mr. Ford declared it was "high time systematic robbery of the American people and manipulation of the country's economic resources is stopped," and renewed his charges that financial interests staged the rail and coal strikes for the purpose of "gouging the people."

Asked the exact reason for the closing of his plants, which he termed "an industrial strike," the manufacturer continued:

Reason For Closing Plants.

"The plants were closed, first, out of consideration of our workmen; and, second, consideration of all the people in Detroit—and I'll be disappointed if the people of the whole United States do not profit by our action and the example of our workmen in not buying coal now, when, very shortly, they can buy much more cheaply."

"We pay Ford workmen high wages because we want them to own their homes and bring up their families decently."

"To do this a workman must have a margin of $250 or $300 a year above his living expenses. But here these coal pirates come along and by manipulation of the amount of coal sent to market, force the price up until our workmen's margin is wiped out. We are put in the position of paying high wages only to have the men forced to pass the high wages on to the coal robbers."

"It's high time that the studied, calculated, systematic, wholesale robbery of the American people through the juggling, manipulation and holding back of the country's economic resources should be stopped."

"The coal brokers and that dirty gang of Wall Street financiers that back the brokers are to blame."

"There are two vital elements that control coal supply—production and transportation."

"A few weeks ago the country was spread over by propaganda that there was a coal shortage while so much coal was being loaded that there was a car shortage for movement of other goods."

Strikers play into Hands of "Gougers"

"Then the railroad labor board cut wages of shophen way below a living wage. Of course the men struck, as was expected. They did what their leaders told them and they played right into the hands of the coal gougers—they made perfect the next step in the plans of the coal pirate bankers of Wall Street. They tied up the cars."

"Then came the Interstate Commerce Commission with Service Order No. 23 for shipment of coal giving

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE IN SESSION LAST WEEK

Beginning Friday afternoon, Sept. 22nd and closing Saturday at noon, was the first young people's conference held by the Presbyterians in this part of the state. The meetings were held in the Presbyterian Church, and represented the young people of North Mississippi, including the Mississippi Synodical College at Holly Springs. This Conference was arranged by Mr. R. L. Landis, of Jackson, and Rev. O. G. Davis, of Sardis, both workers among young people, with the assistance of Dev. J. R. Cunningham, local pastor.

After the close of the first session Friday afternoon, the young people were taken in cars to Glenwild, where they very much enjoyed seeing the attractive places of the plantation.

At seven o'clock in the evening, the ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary, served a delicious banquet for the Conference in the S. S. rooms of the Church. About seventy-five young people were present, and seemed to enjoy the fellowship of the hour.

Following the banquet, the young people adjourned to the auditorium of the church where a good congregation had already assembled, and heard most inspiring and interesting addresses from Dr. Alfred Hume, vice-chancellor of the University and from Dr. G. T. Gillespie, President of Belhaven College at Jackson, Miss.

Among Saturday's speakers were Mrs. J. L. Williams, former President of the Presbyterian Women's work in Mississippi, whose home is in Indianola, and Miss Hattie Davis who is an expert in Young People's work in Rural Districts. The closing address was made by Rev. A. A. Walker, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Clarksdale, Miss.

A permanent organization of the young people of North Mississippi will be effected and regular meetings of this nature for the presentation of the aims and standards of the church will be held.

BETTER SCHOOLS.

October 2-7 will be observed throughout Mississippi as "Better School" week, and Grenada County with all the other counties of the state will observe the occasion. County Superintendent McKibben has arranged a program of speaking dates for a number of the school centers of the county. The object of "Better School" week is to improve conditions for the childhood of Mississippi. Certainly nothing more vital or of greater moral and civic worth could be projected. All the parents and all of the friends of all the children are urged to attend these meetings and get information and inspiration that can be most profitably put to use throughout the year.

Everywhere schools are crowded and this in itself is a most promising indication of a better citizenship in the near future. America suffers today from ignorance more than any other tyranny, and positive lack of knowledge of conditions as they are and as they should be is largely responsible for it. All should get together for better schools and better school environment for all of the children of Grenada County and the State of Mississippi.

WILL ADVERTISE FARMS FOR SALE IN NORTH AND WEST

It is our purpose to advertise farms and other property listed for sale with us in northern and in the middle west sections. There are many people from those sections casting eyes in this direction. They have the money, and we need more people and more capital in this section. So if your property is listed at anything like reasonable figures, we feel that we will be sure to secure some prospective purchasers.

priority rights by Herbert Hoover. I wonder if the commission didn't see that it was playing right into the hands of the coal profiteers. The order regulated nothing. It was used by unscrupulous men to get coal out of the blockade and sold at blood prices. We were offered this bootleg coal—in 10,000 lot—again and again. We turned it down. We couldn't get coal without paying graft—and that's another basic reason why we closed.

"Why doesn't Congress find out the truth about these things—and rectify them. The American people are entitled to have such abuses rectified."

"We saw this gigantic plan coming to a head with unprecedented profits about to fall into the laps of the New York mine-owning, crooked, broker-backing gang. We believed we saw a way at least partially to frustrate this stupendous fraud."

"And that's the third and final reason why we shut down, until we could get coal and other industries could get coal at honest prices."

FREIGHT RATES ON LUMBER FROM GRE- NADA REDUCED

Now in Same Zone With Philipp and Charleston. Means Big Saving to Shippers. Copies of Correspondence With Grenada Freight Agent or The Illinois Central.

Since the writing of the two letters reproduced below, The Sentinel has been advised that the lumber rates to the great consuming centers from Grenada are on the same basis as those from Charleston and Phillip, which have for a long time enjoyed the benefits of a lower rate than Grenada. This reduction will mean a big saving to shippers from this territory:

Grenada, Miss., June 27th, 1922.
Mr. Joseph Hattendorf,
Memphis, Tenn.
My Dear Mr. Hattendorf:

In reference to the conversation I had with you some several weeks ago in regard to putting Grenada lumber rates to the great consuming centers in the same zone and on the same basis as the rates you now have in force from Charleston and Phillip, Mississippi.

We feel that if we can get the above basis of rating, not only will your road be doing a generous act, of justice as Grenada is thirty to forty miles nearer by rail to the great consuming centers than either Phillip or Charleston but we will be enabled to secure some enterprises in Grenada which she has not a chance at now and will draw very considerably on the timber interests South East and South West of Grenada, which now pay tribute to the Southern Railroad.

We belong to the I. C. Railroad and are glad of it as we realize and appreciate the fact that it is the greatest and best managed common carrier in the whole country. We are very desirous of building up our community and giving you people a lot of freight.

Please continue to cooperate with us and the State, and prove to the world that a good town can really be built on a single line of railroad.

The Southern Railroad is making every advance to George C. Brown Lumber Company, offering them rail at a rental of $30.00 and making other concessions, urging them to put their plant in Calhoun City, Miss., and it has come to our knowledge that the above firm is going to take immediate steps making a decision as to the location of their plant.

Please forestall the Southern and make such advances to George C. Brown & Company, as will secure the plant here. If they are located here it will mean several hundred thousands of dollars in freights to the I. C. Railroad Company, which otherwise they will lose.

Will you please upon receipt of this write me what are the chances for the rate changes asked for.

Your courtesy will be greatly appreciated by.

Yours very truly,
Grenada County Chamber of Commerce,
W.B.H./H.

RATE ADJUSTMENT:

Lumber from Grenada, Miss.

Mr. W. B. Hoca,

Grenada, Miss.

Dear Mr. Hoca:

Replying to your letter of the 27th with reference to the above.

As I told you in conference some time ago there is every prospect of the Grenada lumber rates being put on the Charleston basis but I do not wish to make any public announcement of this at the present time although I have no objection to you so stating in a proper way to the George C. Brown & Company.

There is not the slightest probability of the M. & O. making lower rates from Calhoun City than we carry from Grenada and as a matter of fact that line will probably maintain rates somewhat higher than from Grenada.

Investigations which I have made convince me that there is really no competition between Grenada and Calhoun City. Of course, there is timber available for the entire distance between the two points but from my discussion with the lumbermen I have been given to understand that commercial operations would require the handling of the logs to a nearer point.

Yours truly,
Joseph Hattendorf,
General Freight Agent.

PENN-PIPPIN.

On Wednesday of this week Mr. William K. Penn and Miss Lucile Pippin were married at the home of the bride in Elizabeth, Miss. Mr. Penn is a son of Mrs. C. C. Penn in Grenada and is a young man who has already developed a sturdiness of character, attentiveness to business worthy of one some years his senior. He is a splendid young man. He has been a resident of Leland for more than a year and the acquaintance between him and his lovely bride soon ripened into love.

Mrs. Penn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Pippin—one of the most prominent families of that section.

The Sentinel extends congratulations and best wishes.

STEPS IN YALO- BUSHA DRAINAGE DISTRICT

A Greenwood Meeting Lays Plans to Organize Yalobusha River Drainage District. What Straightening of River Means. Com. Named to Present Matter to Property Owners

A number of Grenada County citizens living along the course of the Yalobusha River attended a meeting of LeFlore County citizens owning real estate between the Yalobusha and Tallahatchie rivers west of this place at Greenwood Tuesday in which drainage matters were discussed at some length. The meeting was presided over by Hon. W. S. Barry of Greenwood.

As a result of the meeting a committee of five consisting of W. M. Dabard, W. M. Whittington, J. A. Moreland, C. L. Sively and W. S. Barry was named to make a more specific canvas of real estate owners interested with a view of organizing a drainage district to be named the Yalobusha River Drainage District, which is expected to begin at Grenada and extend to Greenwood. It was developed at the Greenwood meeting that it is believed that the straightening of the Yalobusha River will minimize the effect of overflows and be the means of reclaiming much valuable land adjacent to the river and between the Yalobusha and Tallahatchie rivers.

It is believed that the proposed drainage district will greatly lessen the high water stages at Greenwood. Competent engineers have stated that 35 per cent of the water which passes Greenwood during highwater comes through the channels of the Yalobusha River. If this be true, it can readily be seen that the matter of draining the Yalobusha is a thing of great importance to Greenwood, and particularly to property owners for miles north of Greenwood. It is a matter of common knowledge that there is a bend in the river west of Grenada where the water travels over 30 miles around when if it went straight that the distance would be less than four miles.

Those at the meeting seem to think that no one who will consider the matter will oppose the district and that it will be but a short while until the Yalobusha drainage district is a reality. The members of the committee invite correspondence and counsel with any one interested.

A LOVELY AFTERNOON.

Sept. 19th will be remembered for many days by those who were so fortunate as to be invited to the home of Mrs. Lula Parker on that date—Mrs. Parker's birthday.

Her thoughtful and devoted children planned the little party as a surprise to their mother, and their plan was a complete success as she knew nothing whatever of it, till friends began dropping in one by one.

There was pleasant concourse of friends, sweet music, and 'twas very touching and lovely when the youngest daughter sang Mother Machree—voicing her own and her sisters and brothers sentiment for their own mother—in this charming bit of Irish sacred melody. After other music, refreshments were served, consisting of a beautiful white birthday cake with candles each brightly lighted as the years of Mrs. Parker's life. With the cake was served a delicious ice cream, colored to conform with the candles.

All of Mrs. Parker's children were present except the oldest daughter, who lives away, and who had recently paid her mother a visit. Mrs. Parker is held very dear by those who know her. She has long used her influence for what is highest and best and her bright smile and cheery voice have borne a blessing and help to many friends, and especially to the sick, and the little children around her.

In honor of their love for her, the ladies of her church on this afternoon reorganized their "Missionary Union" naming it the "Lula Parker Missionary Union", and planning to meet at her home the 19th of every month. Mrs. Parker is at present the oldest member of her church, so this seemed in every way a fitting tribute not only to her but to her parents who were so much a part of the church then as always.

There were months when if it had not been for the faithfulness of her father, it seemed there would be no gathering together at all. He was for years a Deacon, Supt. of S. S. and on Wednesday night was too glowering for him to meet and read a chapter in the Bible and pray with the few who came, and her mother, in years further back whose face was "lit as with sunshine" with the beautiful spirit within, was a devoted and faithful member of the church, and deeply loved and honored by all. So, the church is left a goodly heritage by the prayers, lives and faithfulness of these and others, and we repeat, that this home is very fitting and deserved and bespeaks for Mrs. Parker much joy in the work which is honoring her, and which she honors. May every succeeding birthday prove happier than the last, is the wish of a host of friends. XXX

MISS POWELL TO AD- DRESS WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club is to be congratulated upon the personnel of county women who are showing interest by way of suggestions for its development. Mrs. Stark Willis writes that the club should now begin collecting things of interest for a county Hall of Fame as Grenada County has furnished some remarkable State's history.

The Club feels most delighted to have Mrs. Willis as a member. Mrs. E. L. Sanderson who assisted Mrs. Sel Roane in Beat 3 establishing family altars writes from Texas that she will be ready this year to work for the advancement of the Woman's Club. She established 11 family altars last year in that beat.

The first meeting of the club will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 3 at 2 o'clock at which meeting, Miss Susie V. Powell, head of the State Demonstration Work, will address the club.

HUGGINS-MOLLOY.

The marriage of Miss Augusta Chambers Molloy to Mr. Camillus Brennus Huggins, Jr., at the Methodist church Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, was a social event of widespread interest because of the popularity and prominence of the young couple plighting their troth, being representatives of two of the county's most notable families. The church was crowded to an overflow, many friends being unable to even get a look in at the altar during the ceremony.

The beautiful ring ceremony was pronounced by a great-uncle of the charming bride, Dr. John Molloy, of Columbia, his words ringing clear and true with deep impressiveness. The luxuriant background of tropical ferns and plants for the wedding party at the altar, prepared for this special occasion, looked as if it had stood there for years, giving a charm to the setting that was the admiration of the great audience.

A pre-nuptial musical program was rendered by Mrs. Charles Cason. At the opening peals of Mendelssohn's wedding march at the appointed hour, the groomsmen, Mr. Frank White Wharton and Mr. Cameron Faircloth led the way in opposite aisles; next came Mrs. Simpson Houston and Miss Elizabeth Horl, who were lovely in lavender chiffon velvet, carrying Dresden bouquets. In the next quartet were Mr. Thomas Ridley and Mr. Charles Ransom of Memphis, followed by Miss Lib Murfree Huggins, younger sister of the groom, and Mrs. Claude Covington, who were charming in orchid chiffon velvet, their flowers also being Dresden bouquets. In the third group were Mr. Newton Ford Molloy, brother of the bride, Mr. Al Lytle Parlee, and Miss Elizabeth McCauley, who was very handsome in a rose chiffon, carrying a Dresden bouquet. The next entrant was the beautiful younger sister of the bride, Miss Elizabeth Molloy, maid of honor in an exquisite toque velvet gown, flowers a shower bouquet.

The bride in queenly loveliness entered upon the arm of her naturally proud father, Mr. Newton Ford Molloy, Sr., who gave her in marriage. She wore a modish and becoming gown of satin and real lace and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and pink roses. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Ellis Reed, the scene at the nuptial celebration being one of surpassing beauty.

Since the announcement of this marriage several weeks ago every possible homage has been bestowed by friends upon the young couple, who are personally very popular.

The bride is a young lady of rare gifts and charm of manner and highly intellectual, enhanced by an adora-

State Highway Engineer, Dietzer and Highway Commissioner Boone of this district met with the board of supervisors of Grenada County here Monday in a public meeting attended by a number of citizens to discuss road matters and particularly to get the public to realize the importance of the adoption of the constitutional amendment to be voted on at the November election, which will authorize the turning over of certain lines of highways in the state to the highway commission.

The meeting was a unit in favor of the adoption of the amendment and the supervisors adopted a resolution getting squarely behind it. able disposition and kindness of heart, and has been a decided social favorite. The groom is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huggins, and is one of the finest young men the city has ever produced. He is exemplary in his habits and a thoroughgoing and successful business man. He is connected with the Gayoso Lumber Company and is located at Grenada, Miss.

Following the beautiful church wedding an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Salem pike, where sincere congratulations and happy felicitations were extended. In the midst of the merriment Mr. Huggins and bride quietly stole away from the scene in an auto and caught the train in town, leaving for a honeymoon trip, at the conclusion of which they will go to Grenada to make their home.

A wealth of beautiful and useful presents attested in light measure the esteem in which the young couple are held.—Tennessee News Banner, Sept. 22.

Mr. Huggins has been in Grenada for several months as general manager for the Gayoso Lumber Co. and has made a most favorable impression on all who have had the good fortune to get to know him. His many friends here congratulate him and his fair bride.

GET READY FOR WEEVILS

Clean Cribbs Lessen Damage From Corn Pest.

A. and M. College, Miss.—Now is the time for farmers to begin making preparations to prevent weevil damage to their corn this winter, according to the State Plant Board, which advises that all old corn be removed, the cribs swept out clean, and the floors and walls as tight as possible. From many observations made, it is evident that weevil damage is usually greatest in corn fields near barns, consequently such corn should be stored separately and fed as soon as possible. Another important measure mentioned is sorting the weevil-infested ears from the other corn when it is gathered. This may be done by having a barrel in the wagon to hold the infested ears, which are emptied in a separate place at the barn for immediate feeding.

Weevil damage can also be greatly reduced by selecting seed corn with long shucks extending well out beyond the tip of the ear and covering it completely. Experiments have shown that such ears will be undamaged even when exposed to the weevils for months. Fumigation with carbon bisulphide or "High Life" is very effective against weevils in tight cribs and should be used before the weevils are numerous enough to damage the corn seriously. A circular on fumigation with carbon bisulphide may be obtained by writing the State Plant Board, A. & M. College, Miss.

If you live in the country and are ambitious for a better home, more desirable community and a greater life, you must love the country; take a keen interest in farm folks; admire their sincerity, quick sympathies, and sane and clean thinking. You must find true enjoyment in the change of season, in the beautiful coloring of the landscape, the skies, the refreshing spring water, the bird's songs, the lowing herds; have a feeling of nearness to the Creator of all things good and beautiful. Surely you must cooperate with your neighbors.

Agriculture offers the oldest and finest profession known. To till the soil and raise the livestock we eat, the feed that the farm produces, to send out the food the other half of the world requires is a service without which life itself could not endure. —A Farm Wife.

If you win at your community, county or state fair, don't boast; if you lose, don't complain; spend your while learning why you lost or won; be determined to improve your exhibit another year whether you win or lost; thereby making your community, county and state fair of educational good for you as well as for your neighbors.

SAYS VARDAMAN'S DEFEAT IS A SCORE FOR WILSON

Score two more for Mr. Wilson. The defeat of Mr. Vardaman is a Wilson victory. True, the combined influences of Senators Williams and Harrison and of Miss Kearney imperiled against the former senator, but that of the former President was even more strongly felt in the campaign. Mr. Vardaman while in the senate was not as prominent in his opposition to Wilsonism as Mr. Road of Missouri, but he was quite as active and he succeeded in drawing Mr. Wilson's fire. He encountered Mr. Wilson's disfavor in his campaign for re-election and he has just encountered it again in his efforts to come back. He has fallen twice before Mr. Wilson's aim.

But more signal still is the news from Arkansas. The state democratic convention held at Hot Springs addressed Mr. Wilson formally as follows:

The democratic party of Arkansas, in convention assembled, extends to you cordial greetings and felicitations on your life of continued usefulness. We believe that the principles which you so ably advocated as President are, immortal and we express the earnest hope that they will be vindicated in your lifetime.

This will be interpreted as referring particularly to the league of nations. If Mr. Wilson is to be vindicated in that matter it must be done at the next presidential election. To let that issue grow cold would be to abandon it. It must be pushed while warm if success is to be achieved. Such seems to be the view of Gov. Cox, who is doing what he can to make the league an issue, if not the issue, in 1924.—Washington City Star.

HE WAS MISUNDERSTOOD

A Manhattanville lady was feeding a hungry tramp the other day, when she discovered that he was pocketing her silverware. Seizing a revolver she exclaimed:

"Drop those spoons, you scoundrel and leave the house; leave it instantly!"

"Leave the house, I say, leave the house!" screamed the infuriated woman.

"I go madam," said the tramp, "never to return; but before I do I would like to say that I did not intend to take your house."

VALUE OF KEEPING A REPORT.

Fifty-Five Hens Yield A High Net Income.

A. & M. College, Miss., Sept.

Mrs. G. R. Slay, of Hazelhurst, Miss., presents some very interesting facts about profits in poultry. A simple record furnished her by the Extension Department proves to be absolutely necessary in determining the value of her enterprise.

The following is her tabulated report:

	Cost of Feed	Equip-ment	Gross Income	Net Income
Jan.	$6.61		$42.01	$35.40
Feb.	$7.44	$3.00	$35.28	$24.84
March.	$7.44		$29.25	$21.81
April	$8.70		$29.49	$20.79
May	$9.94		$13.09	$3.15
June	$11.45		$32.85	$21.40
July	$8.90		$28.85	$19.95

Total $60.48 $3.00 $209.82 $146.34
42.0 g. J25 U swe ec
Av. production per hen per month 11.7
Av. cost per hen per month (feed) 16 1/4 c
Av. gross income per hen per month 54 1/4 c
Av. net income per hen per month 38 c

At this rate each hen will show at the end of a year a clear profit of $4.56. This is an exceptionally good record and is really more than we tell people to expect from their hens. This extremely high profit was made by selling strictly market produce except in the months of January, February and March when about half the egg supply was sold at $1. per setting. All the feed used for the hens and for the growing stock was charged to the hens and of course the returns for the fryers and broilers was credited on the record. There was no charge made for eggs set at home, consequently, no charge against the flock for the chicks. In the month of June there were stolen from the flock 36 fryers. These would have averaged 75c each, making a total loss of $27.00.

A very efficient and economical ration was raised on the farm. It was nothing more than any poultry producer can raise, and get good results. It will be noted the month of highest cost is June, when the greatest number of chicks is on the yard. The mash feed cost an average of $2.15 per hundred pounds and the grain feed $2.00 per hundred pounds. Why not make a closer study of your poultry flocks? Free information is at your command in the Poultry Department at the A. & M. College.

On Friday afternoon, September 8, Mesdames B. J. Anderson, W. V. Dubard and L. A. Dubard entertained in the home of their mother, Mrs. W. M. Dubard, in honor of another sister, Mrs. O. L. Lomax, of Greenwood.

The tables were laid under the beautiful trees in the lawn and very interesting games of rook whiled away a delightful afternoon for the guests. Sparkling punch was served to the arriving guests and after the games, very delicious cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Dubard's home is a very lovely and hospitable one and was especially enjoyable in honoring these charming matrons. The afternoon was altogether a decided success and every one had a thoroughly good time.

OUR HIGHWAY LINK TO GRENADA COUNTY LINE PRACTICALLY COMPLETE

U. S. Government Allotted $86,596.26 to Aid Construction of this 24-Foot Road.

With the construction of one small fill at Ascalmore Creek, the contract for which is to be let by the Board of Supervisors of this county on October 3, Federal Aid project number 99 will be completed, it is officially announced.

Construction work on this project, which is located between Charleston and the Grenada county line, a distance of 13 miles, was begun June 28, 1921. The project consists of a graded road twenty-four feet wide, with drainage structures of concrete and steel. The Federal funds allotted to assist in the construction of this project amounted to $86,596.26, or fifty per cent of the estimated cost.

This road is a part of the proposed State Highway Department. If the proposed amendment to the State Constitution is adopted at the November elections, this road will be taken over for maintenance at the expense of the Highway Department thereby allowing the county to devote funds, ordinarily spent on this road, to roads of lesser importance.

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors, it was voted that Federal Aid Project No. 99, this being the new highway extending from Charleston to the Grenada county line, be turned over to the State Highway Department.

This means that the State will maintain supervision over the road until the legislature meets in two years. If the constitution is amended in the coming election, the next Legislature will have authority to transfer the system from control of the Board of Supervisors to that of the State Highway Department, the road then to be maintained by joint appropriations from the State and the Federal Government.—Mississippi (Charleston) Sun, Sept. 7.

A VOICE FROM LOUISIANA

Mississippi, apparently, from early returns, has redeemed herself from the blight of Vardamanism, and has defeated James K. Vardaman in his effort to return to the United States Senate.

We have been deceived several times in the early returns from Mississippi elections, so far as Vardaman is concerned, but this time there appears to be little doubt that Vardaman has met defeat.

He was a man whose record in the United States Senate was both unimpeachable and unpatriotic. Vardaman voted with the Republicans more than he did with the Democrats. He fought Woodrow Wilson, the great leader of the Democratic party, at every stage, and in every great issue. He was unblushingly pro-german in his utterances and votes, so much so that even his rabid supporters in Mississippi and Vardamanism in Mississippi is more of a disease than a symptom of political belief—could not, with the memory of the war fresh, stand for his record then.

Now, four years later, weakened by ill health, and physically and mentally incapacitated to perform the duties of a senator, he comes forward as a candidate and leads in the first primary.

Apparently between the first and second primaries, there has been a change in Mississippi's political feeling, and Vardaman is retired.

We believe it is a good thing, not only for Mississippi, but for the South.—State Times, Shreveport, La.

ROADS STAND BY LOYAL EMPLOYEES

Tell President Harding Old and New Men Must Be Protected in Strike Settlement.

NOT A MATTER OF CHOICE

Faithful Employees Have Both Legal and Moral Rights to Seniority and Other Benefits.

New York.—The keynote of the reply made by railway executives representing more than 190 Class 1 Railroads of the United States to the proposition of President Harding, that "all strikers be returned to their work and their former positions with seniority and other rights unimpaired," lies in the last paragraph from their reply to the President as follows:

"It is submitted that the striking former employees cannot be given preference to employees at present in the service without doing violence to every principle of right and justice involved in this matter, and without the grossest breach of faith on the part of the railroads to the men at present in their service."

"Under these circumstances, it becomes apparent that the railroads cannot consider any settlement of the present strike which does not provide protection in their present employment both to the loyal employees who remained in the service and to the new employees entering it."

The executives had accepted the first two conditions proposed by the President, namely, that both employers and employees accept the decisions of the Labor Board, and that all law suits growing out of the strike be withdrawn; and in relation to the third condition spoke not only as quoted above, but also as follows:

Agree With the President

"The railroad executives and managers agree entirely with the President's statement in his letter that 'it is wholly unthinkable that the Railroad Labor Board can be made a useful agency of the Government in maintaining industrial peace in the railway service unless employers and workers are both prompt and unquestioning in their acceptance of its decisions.'"

"Many men in the service refused to join the strike and in so doing were assured of the seniority rights accruing to them and of the permanence of their positions. On some important lines 50 per cent or more refused to join the strike. To these old loyal employees have been added thousands of new men who were employed and could be secured only upon a definite promise that their services would be retained regardless of the settlement of the strike, with all the rights pertaining to such employment, including that of seniority under the working rules and regulations previously approved by the Railroad Labor Board.

"Just the Opposite Effect"

"We especially point out that a refusal to the old men who remained in the service and to the new men who accepted service of the rights of seniority incident to their employment would have just the opposite effect to that desired by the President, and would most seriously discredit the Labor Board."

"The board itself prescribed the rules of seniority under which the men referred to have secured their seniority rights, and the railroad companies have neither the legal nor moral right to deprive these men of those rights. By public utterances since the strike began the board has recognized and emphasized these rights, and to deny them now would, instead of upholding the authority of the Labor Board, overthrow its rules and discredit its authority."

"The Chairman of the Labor Board at the time the strike was called made the following public statement:

"Upon one question the striking employees should not be deceived. Their leader has said that the strikers are no longer employees of the railroads, and they have thus automatically abandoned all the rights they possess under their agreements and under the decisions of the board, including their seniority. This is not the board's action. It is their own."

"Many carriers are giving their former employees the opportunity to re-enter the service within a limited time. It must be understood now that men who remained in the service and those who are now entering it will have rights of seniority that the board could not ignore."

What the Proposed Plan Means

"It must be understood that any proposal that employees now on strike shall be permitted to return to the service, without impairment to their seniority, is merely another way of suggesting that those men who took employment in this crisis in good faith, relying on the promises of the railroads to protect them in their positions, these promises being justified by the authoritative utterances of the Labor Board, and thus have made possible the continued operation of the railroads, shall now be sacrificed in favor of men now on strike, who not only brought about the crisis, but by their own action and declaration are no longer employees of the railroads, under the jurisdiction of the United States Railroad Labor Board, or subject to the application of the Transportation act."

Two ladies were talking the other day and in some way the telephone subject came under discussion. They both had party line telephones. One of the ladies was telling about how mean somebody in her neighborhood was. To use her own language the somebody will "talk to some other fool for half an hour and never say anything either, and here I will be nearly wild wanting to order things for dinner of tell Tom what I want him to fetch home. Are you bothered that way?" The other replied: "I used to be, but I'm not any more. A friend of mine who is connected with the service told me how to put on a chocker and I will tell you. You may have noticed those two metal knobs at the top of the instrument. Well, they are there whether you have noticed them or not. Now, when somebody has used the line about twice as long as they ought to I just lay a key or a short piece of wire across those two knobs. Then, in a minute of two I take off my short circuit and can get central all right. I used to feel as if I wanted to say bad words, but now let the gossip feel that way." The hint was thankfully received by the one to whom it was given and perhaps others will be thankful too.

NEWSPAPER SUCCESS.

To BELIEVE something and SAY what you believe, to see things clearly and describe them simply, to know what the people think and write about their thinking, to remember that your constant loyalty belongs to the poorest man that reads your newspaper—that is all there is to newspaper success—Arthur Brisbane.

THE CITY TO SPEND NEXT YEAR.

In this issue, we publish the budget of the City of Grenada for the fiscal year, from October 1, 1922, to October 1, 1923. It will be seen that the total anticipated expense runs to $121,159.60. It will also be seen that it takes, or will take, $17,142.60 to pay the interest on the City's indebtedness, or that slightly over 14 per cent of the total budget goes to pay interest.

THE PRESENT MANAGEMENT OF THE CLARION-LEDGER

While the name and fame of Col. R. H. Henry, like that of Henry Watterson, with the Courier Journal, with the Jackson Clarion-Ledger will endure for generations, still it must be admitted that the young man whom he trained to succeed him, T. M. Hederman, is measuring well up to the exacting standards demanded of the present day editor of a daily newspaper.

Tom Hederman is a fine fellow. He is genial, practical and true and loyal to his friends and to that which is best in the life of the State. His editorial expressions are lucid, clear, positive and convincing, and show an erudition and a remarkable grasp of the great problems of the country that one would hardly look for in a man who had been so long at the business helm of a newspaper. He has not allowed business to entirely divert his mind from communing with the great intellects whose brains and ability have made the world what it is today.

The Clarion-Ledger is destined to occupy a broader field of usefulness under T. M. Hederman.

TAX-PAYERS MAY PETITION AGAINST EXPENDITURES NAMED IN BUDGET.

Section 6 of Chapter 225, laws of 1922, requiring boards of supervisors to prepare and publish what is proposed to be spent the following year, provides that the tax-payers may petition against any specific expenditure. The following is the language of Section 6:

"That the majority of the qualified resident property tax-payers of any county, town or village, may petition against any items of proposed expenditure for such county or municipal purposes; and file such petition with the board of supervisors if it be a county proposition or with the board of aldermen of the town or village, if it be a municipal proposition; and after such petitions duly filed with such county or municipal authorities, it shall be unlawful to impose any taxation based on such items thus petitioned against, other than taxes for payment of interest or installments on bonds, unless the question shall be first submitted and favorably voted upon at an election to be held for that purpose in such county or municipality, provided, however, that this section shall not apply to contingencies set forth in section five of this act."

WHY NOT PRINT IT IN MISSISSIPPI?

It is signally strange that the majority of the catalogues, and in fact all classes of printing that is used by some of our educational institutions, carry the imprint of out of the state printers. We frankly admit that our colleges rank with the best of any state and we should educate our children in them, but why Mississippi printing is not good enough for some of our colleges we cannot understand. All know that the printing establishments of Mississippi are equipped to do as high class work as the printers of any other state in the Union. If our colleges are good enough to educate our children in, Mississippi printing should be good enough for these colleges to use.

In this morning's mail we received a beautiful catalogue from a South Mississippi college, printed by a Nashville printing concern. Why? There are five or six Mississippi printing establishments that could have turned out this catalog for this Mississippi college.

Why send it out of Mississippi?

Printed in Mississippi would look better, sound better and certainly would build up a better spirit between the printing and educational interests than Printed in Nashville.—Winona Times.

THE COUNTY'S EXPENSE BILL AND TWELVE MONTH'S EXPENDITURES.

In this issue of The Sentinel appears the estimated Expense Budget of Grenada County from October 1, 1922 to September 30, 1923.

This budget is published in accordance with Chapter 225 of the laws of the Mississippi legislature of 1922, one of the wholesome pieces of legislation enacted during the session, and a thing which this paper urged should be done and a proposition we pressed on the attention of some of the leading members of the legislature a number of times.

It will be noted that the total proposed expenditures for general county affairs and all purposes for districts 1, 2, 3 and 4, amount to $236,068.64. It is also shown by the budget that the total expenditures for consolidated schools and all other purposes for the entire county amount to $280,560.04, while the total revenue under the levy, will be $215,961.40. Should the total estimated expenditures be made, there will be a deficit of $64,598.64. Without undertaking to speak by authority, we assume that the supervisors were liberal in making estimates for the reason that the law positively forbids expenditures beyond the budget and that it was the purpose of the supervisors in making the totals in the budget to provide for any unforeseen conditions.

This may or may not have been for the best. We are sure that the supervisors were acting according to their best judgment, but there is always a temptation to spend whatever is in sight. Individuals are that way and especially is this true with public bodies which pass on expenditures.

It will be noted that the tax levy is 37 mills, or just what it was last year. The State levy is one mill less than last year but the county levy is one mill more. It will be observed that the total county levy, less State levy, is 29 mills and that 8 mills, or more than 27 per cent of the total county levy, is to pay interest on bonds.

We are also publishing a detailed expense bill of the County, which is also submitted by the board of supervisors, of the expenses of Grenada County from September 1, 1921, to August 31, 1922. The total of these figures is $470,148.37 of which $420,245.73 was spent on roads and bridges. However, we take that at least $150,000.00 and perhaps more, of that amount will be, or has been, paid back out of State and Federal funds.

Now then the tables should be studied by the tax-payers. They have the opportunity to see what the supervisors intend to spend, or will probably spend, and the sources from which the funds are to be derived. It is your affair, Mr. Citizen.

MANY IMPORTANT THINGS NEED TO BE DONE.

Mississippi has many important things that needs to be done. To undertake to recount, or enumerate, them would be an act of superfluity; it would really be dinning into the ears of the thoughtful, serious citizen that which he has many, many times thought over.

And now, while we are just out of a political campaign and should have our thinkers at least headed for correcting reasoning, for seeing that cause must follow effect, we ought, as one family, reason together about what our people, our State need.

One needs only to leave his own domicile, to visit his neighbor, to mingle with those of another community to realize that a vast majority of the people want to be fair in their conclusions, and that all Mississippians, outside of a few Bolshevistic so-called leaders, want to be brotherly with each other, and to practice the principles of the Golden Rule.

In some measure, whether we will it or not, we are our brother's keeper. Our brother's welfare, the future of his children, the happiness of his home, the education of the present generation, the fostering of the churches—these and other kindred higher and better things are a part of the obligation we owe each other.

Whatever obstacles there may be in the way for the higher and grander things for Mississippi can, and should be, gotten out of the way. But in order to do this, we need to act that which we all know and realize, and that is, that these better things are not wrapped up in the success of any office seeker or politician. It would indeed be a pathetic situation for any free, enlightened people to know that their temporal success and happiness was dependent upon any one individual.

We need to think more in terms of better farms, better homes and saner business rather than in terms of factions and politics.

Out of the nearly two million souls in our State, there are scarcely more than a few hundred, who, if they were leaving the State and the inquiry were made of them about the character of the people they were leaving behind, would not answer, "The best people in the world and it breaks my heart to leave them."

The soil of Mississippi is sacred to us because many of those dearest to our hearts lie beneath its sod—and these send back the injunction, "Be true."

So we enter a plea for unity of effort and unity of purpose. We urge that all that is best in Mississippi put their heads together to work out for our State that destiny which Nature has carved out for her. Let it not be said of us at the Judgment, "you wasted your time, your talents and your substance in vain politics and in riotous bickerings." The fields and forests of Mississippi are white unto reaping but no harvesting can succeed where one-half the reapers are suspicious of the other half.

The religion of the Lord and Savior will put us on the proper highway and with it will come more self-denial, the proper economy, industry, frugality and minds and hearts working in consonance with the heavenly spirit. Shall we say "When we have a convenient season," we will undertake these things, but not today? Is this not the time? This is our Now. We may not have a tomorrow.

AS DEAD AS HECTOR.

The bunch which has been exploiting the people of Mississippi for the past eight years was dealt a blow on September 5 that registered the outraged sentiment of Mississippi. The blow shows that they are as dead as Hector.

Of course the putrid carcasses of some of them will smell for quite a while. As they are being carried to the bone yard, they will leave about the same odor that an enraged skunk, perfumed by a buzzard's roost, would leave along the pathway where the faithful mule does the dragging act.

There can be no serious question to the statement that Vardaman polled 15,000 more votes than anyone else whom that bunch of marplots could put up. This being true, means that fifteen thousand votes against them, or 30,000 on the other side. This 30,000 added to the 8,558, Stephens' majority, puts up a stone wall that they can never get over.

"O, we are going to register the country women" is their agonizing cry. Thanks to the good Lord, the country women have no more tolerance for sham, lechery, graft and adulterous conduct than the good women in town. And when these fellows in despair fall back to their last retreat any say, "the country women will save us," they bring an indictment against the purity of purpose and loftiness of aim of the women who happen to reside outside of some little town that will be resented by them in thunder tones.

These country women are for no Birkhead politicians. These country women are for no set of men that will stand sponsors for the Insane Hospital scandal no more than the town women; these country women, no more than the town women, will endorse the buying and selling of pardons as in the Goldsby case; these country women, no more than town women, will stand for any set of men who endorse the pardoning of a man who ruined his daughter. These are just a few of the counts in the indictment.

No, the man who is elected to office in Mississippi from now on must come with a clean personal certificate. No Fatty Arbuckle politician, no politician whose private and public life would vomit a culture, can get by.

Furthermore, when the true situation as to Senator Vardaman gets to the people of Mississippi, they will realize the desperation of the gang who were using the poor and unfortunate ex-Senator as a wooden horse to slip themselves over once again. It was the offices, the perpetuation of the ring, that the Vardaman leaders were after. They cared not a continental about Vardaman except so far as they could use him to keep their slimy political hands on the offices of Mississippi. Woe to Bilbo, Burch, Russell and the other political parasites who called themselves "leaders," when the real friends of Vardaman learn that Vardaman was in fact a sick man and that they were fooling Mississippi in their pretended efforts to elect him Senator.

A COLORED WEDDING.

On Tuesday evening of this week, at 8 o'clock, at the A. M. E. church in Grenada, India Ella Philips was married to Harry Summerfield, the pastor of the church officiating. The bride is a daughter of Joe Philips and wife and is a most deserving young colored woman. She is remarkably well trained and shows a grasp of real conditions quite creditable to her. Harry Summerfield is well known in Grenada and is regarded as being unusually intelligent and of plenty of energy and industry. Young colored people properly trained and who show a disposition to live properly, deserve the commendation and encouragement of the good white people, and as such The Sentinel wishes this couple success.

SHOWER FOR ORPHANS.

At the last meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church which was held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Countiss, a shower was given for the Methodist Orphans' Home at Jackson and the Wesley House at Biloxi. The box sent to the orphans was valued at $70.00. During the course of the meeting, the members of the society heard a timely talk by Mrs. Alma Riley, who is secretary of the home at Jackson.

There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac. It enables the stomach to turn the food into healthy blood, bone and muscle, purifies the system and helps you back to normal weight. Get a bottle today at any good druggist.—Advertisement.

ANOTHER "IRON MAN."

Akron, Ohio.—When Joe McGinnity, pitching ace of the New York Giants in the late nineties, established a world's record for winning double-headers which has never since been equalled, the ready imagination of a sport writer added a phrase to the English language, which stands forever as a synonym for courage and endurance.

It was Iron Man McGinnity at the beginning of the century, and, whether in baseball, boxing, tennis or anything else requiring nerve and staying power, Iron Man has been the confalon of grit ever since.

Battling Nelson, the Durable Dane, might have been dubbed the Iron Man of the ring.

Bill Tilden is the Iron Man of tennis.

And today it's Iron Man Van Orman of the air.

A free balloon flight of 310 miles, followed by a rail journey of 350 miles—a dash across country of 60 miles in a high-powered car, another balloon flight of 250 miles, all within a period of 41 hours without a wink of sleep, with a 225 mile trip on a lake steamer to wind up the week-end, made up the combination that earned for Van Orman the title of Iron Man.

Ward T. Van Orman is a veteran of several national balloon races, besides having represented the United States in two international competitions.

Scene: Wingfoot Lake Air Station near Akron, Saturday morning. The big bag is swaying in the half light of a chilly dawn. Four men get into the basket as Van Orman stands, watch in hand guessing at the air currents thousands of feet above.

The dial on Van Orman's watch shows 4:45.

"Let's go," he says, and the next minute the balloon is sailing away to the north-east lifting hundreds of feet per second.

Passing over the corner of Ohio, the northeast Pennsylvania, at an altitude of 6,000 feet most of the way, Salamanca, N. Y., is reached at 8:45.

Hammondsport, N. Y., is sighted about 12:30 and the heat is so severe that Van Orman decides to land. A cow pasture looks inviting.

A couple of bumps and they're on terra firma.

Van Orman's watch shows 12:55. Three hundred and ten miles in 8 hours and 10 minutes.

"Call it a day," said someone.

"Got to be in Akron at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning and do it all over again," said Van Orman.

So leaving the crew to deflate the bag, roll it up and express it home, Van Orman motors to the station in a friendly car, reaches Cleveland at 1:00 a. m. jumps into a waiting auto, and does 60 miles across country to Wingfoot Lake Air Station arriving at 3:00.

A shave, cup of coffee, and a sandwich and Van Orman is standing by another bag. P. W. Litchfield, V. N. Braden and Leroy Tompkinson are his crew this time.

At 5:50 they hop off.

The second flight is a severer test for the pilot. Just skirting Lake Erie after finding the air currents at 5,000 feet sufficient to keep them in the U. S. A. when lower altitude seem to welcome them to Canada, they make fast time to Erie, Pa.

The heat is intense. The thermometer hits 100, then blows off the top.

Grain elevators and endless docks 20 miles away.

Buffalo.

Twelve miles out Van Orman makes a pretty landing, at exactly 12:00 noon. The trip of 250 miles took just 6 hours and 10 minutes.

Returns to Cleveland by boat was decided on.

"The hay for me," said Van Orman.

Lake Erie waves, throbbing propellers, dance music—all were a lullaby for the tired airman.

When the liner docked he was still sleeping.

The Iron Man of the air had ballooned, railroaded, motored, ballooned again, and sailed a total of 1200 miles in 41 hours.

No wonder he slept.

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Real Cord Tire for Small Cars at a Popular Price

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord in the 30 x 3 1/2 inch clincher type is a tire that the small car owner will warmly welcome.

It gives him, at a price lower than the net price he is asked to pay for many "long discount" tires, every advantage of quality cord tire performance, for it is a quality tire through and through.

It is made of high-grade long-staple cotton; it embodies the reliable Goodyear quality of materials; its clean-cut tread engages the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

The tough tread stock in this tire is carried down the sidewalls clear to the bead, making it rut-proof to an extraordinary degree.

In every particular it is a representative Goodyear product, built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation.

Despite its high quality, and the expertness of its construction, it sells at a price as low or lower than that of tires which lack its important features.

The 30 x 3 1/2 inch Cross-Rib
Cord clincher $12.50

This price includes manufacturer's excise tax
Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tires are also made in 6, 7 and 8 inch sizes for trucks

ANONA COMPANY, Jacksonville, Tenn.

Gentlemen:

In reply to yours of the 12th inst. in regard to Spivas' One Night Itch Remedy. I wish to say that I used this remedy in my family and found it to be all that Dr. Spivas recommended it to be. Two years ago my wife came back from the hospital with a "breaking out" that was very annoying. I tried two Doctors without getting any relief. After several months I went to Dr. Spivas. He pronounced it dermatitis and I then obtained a jar of this remedy. One application cured her.

Yours very respectfully,
E. C. Lovorn,
County Supt. of Education.

LONG BROWN PATH

Vacationists With Shelter Tents and Tin Cow Learning to Walk All Over Again.

Oh! It's not the pack that you carry on your back. Nor the rifle on your shoulder. Nor the five inch crust of khaki-colored dust. That makes you feel your limbs are growing older. And it's not the hike on the hard turnpike that drives away your smile. Nor the socks of sisters that raise the blooming blisters. It's the last long mile. —Plattsburgh Marching Song.

Stringing out from the suburban transit terminals of New York every Sunday and holiday goes the army of khaki-clad hikers. There may be an automobile for every twenty of the country's population, but a host of city folks disprove the theory of a future leg-enfeebled citizenry and are learning to walk all over again.

To the more casual minded, the hike is just exercise, but to those who catch its real significance the hike means a great deal more. It is the cheapest form of recreation and therefore appeals to those living in crowded districts and unable to avail themselves of the more expensive amusements. And these people, be it noted, are just those the country is so anxious to have spread out and settled in the farming sections. The hike, indeed, has possibilities as a real starter for the "back to the farm" movement.

Doughboy and Boy Scout Lead Way

Just a brief survey of the rollicking groups which move off from the outlying terminals on holidays establishes a few general types. There is the ex-service man and his friends who will hear from him the story of more serious excursions on the muddy roads of France. He tightens a strap here and another there on the blanket roll adjustment or the "shelter half," in which the commissary is packed for the mid-day feast by the roadside. Expert directions come from him on the method of slinging the pack so it will not feel so heavy or interfere with the free body movement. He will pass along the information, gained in his army days, of how that same pack was evolved after numerous experiments to find the easiest way of carrying the heaviest load. With results he now compliments, but which he characterized when a doughboy as a "blankety-blank total failure."

Then there are the boy scout parties, adept at everything pertaining to "shanks mare" traveling and woodcraft. The ex-service man and the boy scout are pioneers in the hiking game. Listen to one of them right off the train and making ready for a twelve mile jaunt: "Get that canteen over to the side, Jimmie, and it won't keep bouncing off your leg every step. Is it filled? Well, then, we drink. How about the eats? Let's check 'em off. You got the spuds, Bill; the bacon Jimmie. Who has the coffee and the Borden tin cow?"

"Right here," announces a freckled comrade of the road, patting his knapsack. "Snatched the mocha and the can of milk when Sis wasn't looking."

"Well, then, let's go!" snaps the commander of the expedition.

This party is traveling light for real distance. Another must expect to make a shorter hitch or else be counting greatly on its power of endurance. Perhaps the camp is not far off because the group is equipped for an over-night stay with heavy blanket rolls, hatchets, lanterns, canvas waterpails, rubber ponchos, kettles, pots, new fangled freestand, etc., etc. The blankets are laid out for a better packing of the bags and cans of food. When the party commences to load up the members bristle all over with camp tools and equipment.

Back to the Farm

The veteran from the crowded city tenements has found a new territory to roam and one almost unknown to his associates. He is introducing them to this newly discovered land and teaching them how to be independent of any transportation but their own good legs and of any subsistence but what they can carry and prepare. "Walk, and cook your own," is his motto.

Who will say the leaves thus fermenting in the city crowds will not bear fruit in a keener appreciation of country delights, especially as these are added to by increased comforts on the farm. With his rifle hitched up, the farmer listens in on the best entertainment the country has to offer. Modern home devices wipe out many hardships formerly imposed upon isolated dwellers. There is, in short, a rapid cutting down of the differential between farm and city life.

In the meantime, knowledge must precede a true appreciation of what the country holds, and this is what the hike supplies. There is more appeal in one apple tree in blossom than in reams of printed matter put out to induce the citizen of the city to change his abode to the country. The hikers constitute a growing army, equipped with bacon, spuds, kettles, and tin cow for merely a day's outing but nevertheless seeing sights that make them yearn to be among them all the time. It is not too much to assume that the army may one day recruit the open places.

(From Baltimore Sun.)

The following letter propounds a question which has far more than an academic interest:

"Editor of the Sun:

"The editorial featuring the speech of Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, on the bonus reminds me of a discussion in which I engaged with several people some weeks ago as to who was the greatest senator in Washington. There were only two names mentioned—that of Williams, the scholarly graduate of Heidelberg University, a man so unassuming in personal demeanor that he would never forge ahead except by sheer ability, and that of Cabot Lodge. I would like the Sun, whose writings are read all over the nation, to give its estimate of these two men. In the past Mississippi has sent to the senate of the United States Lamar, Walthall, George, and the immortal Jefferson Davis, the South's greatest leader, and president of a storm-cradled nation. And now, when Vardaman seems destined to return to the senate, your opinion upon the passing of such men as Williams, the greatest, in my opinion, of all senators, would be interesting. Retiring after thirty years of consecrated service not only to Mississippi but to the nation, can you pick out one statement that he ever uttered that is demagogic? Has he not always been fearless? Has he ever heeded the command of the mob? If these things be true, is it not worth your while to sum up his life's work and tell us I am right when I declare it to be my belief that he is today America's greatest senator and statesman?"

"John H. Kellogg.

"Baltimore, Sept. 1.

The estimate of comparative senatorial values which our correspondent asks us to make is not a matter for offhand reply. Senator Williams and Senator Lodge resemble each other in one respect, and that is that both are political partisans. Intellectually they resemble each other only as do any two men of broad culture. But culture has not affected greatly the original outlook and prepossessions of either. Mr. Lodge as cultivated New England Republican who belongs to a former generation in his political prejudices and reactions to current events. Mr. Williams is a cultivated Southerner who is still influenced by sectional antipathies and traditions. In these respects they represent political extremes, sharp and clear-cut. They embody conflicting national ideals and constitutional theories. If Senator Lodge is the best that New England and the Republican party have to offer the country in the senate, if he is the Republican superlative in that body, we think it may be confidently affirmed that New England's present chief representative of statesmanship does not measure up by any means to the proportions of some of her former senatorial figures. Lodge is, of course, not to be mentioned in the same breath with Webster. Sumner was far his superior in political and oratorical dimensions, and so were other Republicans senators of Lodge's own day. Mr. Lodge has become more prominent in recent years, not because he has grown larger, but because his party associates have become smaller. It is not only the Democratic party that has decreased in senatorial stature, but the Republican party as well. Senator Williams is one of the few Democratic members of congress who has grown bigger with the passage of time. As a member of the house he was recognized as one of its strongest and keenest debaters. There was no foe man with whom he was not able to hold his own, either in a rough-and-tumble debate or in a deliberate discussion of economic and constitutional principles. To the senate he carried the force and well as the mind and method of a trained student. A partisan nearly always where questions of pure politics were concerned, he was never a demagogue and never a coward. Comparing him with some of his illustrious Democratic predecessors in the senate, it may be truly said that he is not unworthy of his distinguished political lineage. As an oratorical satirist, as the wielder of the sledge-hammer of common sense, as a fearless defender of the truth as he has seen it, as an unflinching champion of principle—he has been for years a unique individuality in a body governed largely by petty motives and influenced largely by political cowardice or political venality. To his reputation for all these qualities he has added recently his eloquent appeals against the false and degrading arguments made for the bonus. One of the last of the tribunes, this son of a Confederate soldier stands out today as the high priest of patriotism pure and undiluted. Stronger and more original intellectually than Senator Lodge he has shown himself far above the latter in political courage and character. The senate and the country will be poorer for his retirement, and if Vardaman had succeeded him, Mississippi would have sunk much below the level of Massachusetts. What a pity that Massachusetts can-if Mississippi had substituted a cheap demagogue like Vardaman for a man of strength and honesty like Williams, who has been true to his state, true to his country and true to the principles essential to manhood, honor and clean popular government. The practical point of interest in the question which our correspondent asks lies in the public attitude toward the personnel of the senate. Do the American people desire the regeneration of the senate, or are they satisfied with its degeneration? Would they prefer a senate of Websters or of Lodges? A senate of John Sharp Williamses or a senate of Vardamans?

On Sunday Lucy Webb, the six year old little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Sharp, was bitten on the right cheek by a little three months old puppy which proved to have hydrophobia. Dr. Sharp immediately cauterized the wound from the bite, which was but slight, and the dog was killed and his head sent to the State Bacteriologist at Jackson, who phoned Dr. Sharp, Monday, that the dog had the rabies. Dr. Sharp immediately began the treatment to make the little child immune from the dog bite. She is doing nicely and is still attending school.

The family have the interest and sympathy of their many friends and the community in general, however, all feel that there is no danger with the treatment, as the record shows only about two cases in 2100 which fail to respond to the treatment. Lucy Webb is a sweet, dear little girl and naturally the unfortunate happening has served to excite a keen and genuine interest in her welfare.

There were two of the puppies, and while Dr. Sharp had owned them but three weeks, the one that bit little Lucy Webb had evidently been bitten before it came to his home, as since that time they had both been fastened up in the backyard. The other puppy has been disposed of so also has the cat in the home. Had the puppies been inoculated against rabies, all would have been well.

RALLY DAY.

Next Sunday, October 1st, will be Rally Day in the Presbyterian Sunday School. It is a time when attendance is stressed, and the work of the school is emphasized. Every Presbyterian in the community is urged to be present Sunday morning at 9:45 to see some of the work his school is doing. Ask yourself, frankly, if you might not profit by enrolling as a pupil in a Bible School. We invite you.

DRESS UP YOUR DAIRY COW

The Dairy Cow That Wins a Prize at North Mississippi Fair at Grenada Should Be Dressed Up Like A Flapper on Parade.

A style show presenting all the latest fashions in bovine dress will be a feature of the dairy cattle exhibit at the North Mississippi Fair, Grenada, October 23 to 27th, inclusive.

The dairy cow who visits the fair this year, and expects to take any prizes, will have to be dressed up in the most up-to-date way to make a hit with the Judges. Appearance of animals in dairy cattle judging, including weight, form, quality, condition and temperament will count for twenty-eight points out of a total score of 100 points. All other things being equal, the best dressed cow will win first prize.

Dairy cattle being ready for the judging ring are first washed with warm water and tar soap. Their hoofs are then trimmed to enable them to stand squarely on their feet. Too long toes give an animal an unnatural position in standing. The hoofs later are smoothed down with emery paper to take off the rough spots.

If horns are crooked they are straightened with clamps and weights hung from the tips of them forth in advance of the show to pull them into shape. Later the horns are smoothed with rasp files, and emery paper, and rubbed with woolen rags dipped in oil. Clippers are used to give the entire body a close, sleek, smooth appearance. The tail is braided tight after it has been washed; when the braids are loosened the stitch flares out in bushy waves. The dairy cow show promises to be a big one. Good sized premiums are being offered. The Dairy Cow will be one of the greatest features at the Fair and the mainstay will be the Dairy Cow which promises future development and progress of the great State of Mississippi like the Dairy Cow in Wisconsin.

NO DELIVERY OF MAIL WHERE THERE ARE NO BOXES

Postmaster Spence states that he is in receipt of instructions from the post office department at Washington advising that there is to be no delivery of mail in Grenada where there are no mail boxes. The order will not go into effect at once, but time will be given all persons to secure mail boxes. The Postmaster states that there are many homes in Grenada who ask for the delivery of their mail but who are without mail boxes. It is needless to comment on the delay to the carrier where some one must be called every time to get the mail.

There is another thing about the order from Washington and that is that there is to be published the towns that first make 100 per cent in acquiring the mail boxes, so The Sentinel's advice to Grenada people is: Get first place on the list.

KIRKMAN ITEMS.

A car of sweet potatoes was shipped from Kirkman Saturday. This was the first cooperative shipment of produce from the community but we hope to ship many cars of potatoes and other produce in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCormick are guests of Mrs. H. L. Trussell at Ita Bena, this week.

Our school opened Monday with a large attendance.

Mrs. E. G. McCormick has as her guests this week Miss Virgie Adams, of near Charleston, and Miss Nora Bonner, of Enid.

Miss Kate Lee, our efficient Home Economics Agent spent Tuesday in the community in the interest of the Fair.

Mrs. J. W. McCormick entertained on Saturday night in honor of the Misses Adams and Bonner.

Messrs. White, Kirk and Keeton were visitors in the neighborhood Thursday.

A meeting of the patrons and trustees of the school was held at the school house Monday night to discuss plans for the year.

Quite a crowd enjoyed the service by Rev. J. R. Henderson at Kirkman school house Sunday afternoon.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Grenada High Freshmen Make A Creditable Showing.

A letter sent out from the department of Education at Jackson by Mr. H. M. Ivy, State Supervisor of High Schools, gives some very interesting data. Mr. Ivy states that in order to check results of high school work in the state he asked that reports of the work done by freshmen in the sixteen colleges of the state be sent to him. Nine colleges complied with Mr. Ivy's request, and from the report of these nine he found the following conditions:

Of 1115 freshmen enrolled there were failures in 931 subjects. In English, the per cent was 22; in Science, 20%; in History 10%; in subjects, 10%; in Foreign language, including Latin, French and Spanish, 11 1/2%; in Education, 10%; in all other subjects, 9 1/2%.

Grenada had enrolled in these nine colleges 8 freshmen. Of these eight 1 failed in English; 1 failed in Science, 0 in History, 1 in Mathematics, 2 in Commercial subjects, 1 in Foreign language, 0 in Education, and 0 in other subjects.

The two failures in Commercial work should not be considered, for Grenada High has not offered heretofore a course in Commercial subjects. Therefore the results of high school work are not shown in this particular instance.

Comparing the failures among our eight freshmen with the percentage of failures made by all freshmen enrolled in the nine colleges, it is seen that we have a record of which to be proud.

Mr. J. T. Calhoun a Guest of The School.

On Wednesday and Thursday of this week the teachers and pupils enjoyed having in their midst Mr. J. T. Calhoun of the Department of Education, Jackson. He conducted the chapel exercises Wednesday morning, after which he, assisted by the teachers of the High School, gave several intelligence tests to the High School pupils. These tests in English and Latin will be scored immediately, and the results given to the pupils, and also tabulated and sent to higher authorities.

Miss Dill Comfortably Situated in New Music Room.

Miss Dill is now going around with a smile on her face all of the time, for her new music room has been completed.

It is a pretty little house with a projecting roof, which gives the appearance of a bungalow. It is painted a dark brown, and is nicely furnished on the exterior as well as on the interior.

On the interior it is neat and attractive looking. The walls are tinted green, and the woodwork is varnished in oak. There are two windows over which hang cretonne curtains, matching the covering of the window-seat. Surely in this pleasant room even the dullest pupil will receive an inspiration.

A Medicine Cabinet Donated to Primary Department.

A medicine cabinet, a very much needed convenience, was donated to the Primary Department by our school friend Mr. J. C. Wilson. The cabinet is very neatly constructed and is stained mahogany color. It is 30 inches by 20 inches. The door of the cabinet is glass, it has been filled with liniment, ear and toothache medicine, and everything that will cure the pains of the little fellow. T. J. Primary Department appreciates all such kindnesses.

Enrollment by Grades.

In last week's school notes it was stated that our enrollment was 616. Several pupils, some because of their being under school age, have been dropped from the rolls. The records
